

Bureau of Special Education Back-to-School Meeting

Connecticut State Department of Education | September 12, 2018

The Bureau of Special Education (BSE), under the leadership of the Bureau Chief Bryan Klimkiewicz, is driven to ensure that students with disabilities receive a free and appropriate public education. The BSE is responsible for monitoring and supporting local education agency compliance with state and federal special education laws and regulations. The BSE has engaged in a process to align our responsibilities to increase efficiencies and is prepared to support this work within the structure of three distinct yet interdependent units. The units collaborate within the State Department of Education and with outside agencies to provide guidance, support and technical assistance to all stakeholders in an effort to improve student outcomes. The flow chart below depicts this structure and process.
